Women Elected to the Minnesota Legislature, Senate and House in General Elections, 1980-2010

In 1922, women became eligible to vote and run for election to the Minnesota Legislature. From 1922 to 1970, the percentage of the Legislature comprised by women was very low, ranging from zero to 2.5 percent. By 1980, the legislature was comprised of 14.2% women in the House, and 7.5% in the Senate. The percentage increased steadily to 27.4 percent women overall in 1992. In the 1996 general election, the percentage rose to 30.4% women in the Legislature overall. The numbers of women elected in the 1998, 2000 and 2002 general elections were lower at 57 (28.4%), 58 (28.9%), and 54 (26.9%), respectively. In 2004, representation again increased, rising to 29.9%. In the 2006 and 2008 general elections the number of women serving was an historical high of 70 women (34.8%). In 2010, the number of women overall decreased, however, the number of Republican women elected reached an historic high.
